Ir the land in Ireland were equitably divided among the population there would not be enough of it for tillege to support I think that American observers of the textile labrics at Paris must have been surprised at the indefinite variety and diversity exhibited by European manufacturers, even in departments where Americans could with proper energy and enterprise successfully compete. It is a mater of regret that so few of our manufacturers took occasion to visit the display, as it was very suggestive in this respect. It pointed the way which we must pursue if we expect to seeme a lassing prosperity for our manufacturing industries. We must introduce and prosecute the manufacture of a wider range of tabrics, if we expect to give employment to our redundant mathe population by agricultural industry are 170 persons in the square mile. While ther countries, with greater diversified the general average is only 75 persons to s it would seem to be the part of wisdom to assist and stimulate emigration. The necessity of expatriation may be a hard ne, but it is a necessity. Ireland is not of a wider range of fabrice, if we expect to give employment to our redundant machinery. I am not unaware that we are gradually widening our field of production, but we are not progressing in this direction so rapidly as we should. I find by inquiring that there are many fabrics which were largely imported into this country when more extravagent habits prevailed, but which are practically withdrawn from the market, because the duty thereon rendered the cost too excessive for these more economical days. Some of The Cincinnati & Ohio River Railway has organized as follows: Directors, A. J. Marietta; Samuel Thomas, Col imbus; Wm. M. Ramsey, John F. Follet, of Cincinnati, and James McArthur, of cago. General Warner was elected President, and Ramsey, Tressurer. The thereon rendered the cost too excessive for these more economical days. Some of these goods I have seen, and can asiely assert of them that they can be made in the United States without difficulty, and sold at a price "within the reach of all. We cannot expect to rival in variety of productien the long-established houses of Manchester and Zurich and Roubaix, but we can soon squal them in the quality of many of their fabrica if we will establish and loster a proper system of trade or shop instruction. The Massachusets Institute of Technology, the Cooper Institute, the Stevens Institute of Technology, the Worcester Free Institute of Industrial old Ohio Valley Company have transferred to the new company their rights of way between Bellaire and Huntington, and also surveys of the same. The new company are completing the right of way and getting ready for work. The Ohio Valley will build from Bellaire to Huntington naking a continuous line from Pittsburgh,

Ex-Sanaron Hows, of Wisconsin, who has returned to Washington from Paris where he acted as one of the representa tives of the United States at the Mone tary Conference, says that, while no definite result has been achieved by the Conference, it has in the main been beneficial to the cause of bimetalism. It has been shown by the Conference that Europe i eans wedded to the single standard. The representatives of Russis, Austria, Italy and Spain favored bimetalism, and while Great Britain's representatives at the Conference were the greatest obstacles in the way of the double standard. they give indications that they were not so unfavorable as may be supposed. The attitude of Germany, however, was not as favorable as the ante-Conference utterances of Bismarck led Mr. Howe and his oileagues to expect.

THE New York Herald prints extracts from municipal reports which show that our tresses on top have succembed to the per cent. of the crime and panperism in that city are directly attributable to whisky. This entailed last year a charge of $4,000,000 on the tax payers for police, trials and commitments. There are 8,000 liquor shops in the city, only onefourth of which are licensed. These facts are rather suggestive. The chief of the medical staff of the Homeopathic Hospital reported recently to the Commissioners of rities and Correction that

"The causes of pauperism and consequant, disease and crime have received coreful and thorough investigation by those long enjoying favorable, advantages for observation. Many reasons for, this painful and rapidly increasing pauperism smoog the people have been sasigned, but that which takes precedence above and beyond all other in the course of intemperance. It is this which roles the peckets of the phor man; this which benumbs his prain and destroys his faculities, and this of the prof man; this which becomes he brain and destroys his facilities, and this which prediscoses films of and his children for latal disease. It is this that breeds senenally in all is projean and disgusting forms; this which induces shiftlessness and irresponsibility ahong the masses, and this which says the life, from those who would be the life. and this which says the life' rom those who would other wise be healthy and vigorous. The statistics of aims houses, work houses, punitentiaries, asylums and hospinis all attest this dark and cloony, fact. A sure remely far this sweeping scourge, so devastating to its dearly influence, is beyond human gen. Yet tithe malignant character of this enemy of the peoples health and is far-resening tendencies toward diagrass and death were more thoroughly understood, a revolution in gently nuderstood, a revolutiou in sent the question might the more read sangurated. The following remarks on the advantages of industrial education are from the report of Hon. Henry Howard on the exof textile fabrics, as United States Commissioner to the Paris Exposi-

The most formidable danger which now The most formidable danger which now threatens from abroad, is the great and commendable energy with which our rivals are nights and extending their system of special education. Throughout Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Ruesia and France, weaving schools have long been exerting a powerful influence on the manufacturing industry; several have been cetablished in Expland. industry; several have been established in Eugland, and there is a general demand for them throughout Lancashire, Xorkshire and Lincolashire. It would be intersesting to consider at length the magnitude and scope, and the results of the wonderini schoolgal Stutigart, Zurich, Moscow, Lille, Ronen, Leeds and Huddelsüeld; but it is for others to enlarge upon these instrumentalities. I desire, however, to place upon record my unhesitating conviction that special trade and art schools have become one of the paramount necessities in nations whose prosperity is largely descendent upon handiciralt. It has been said that the Yankee character is so apt, acute and inventing of a hose I ever see. where the place upon record my unbestating conviction that special trade and art schools have become one of the paramount necessities in nations whose prosperity is largely dependent upon handler that it has been said that the Yankee charactet is no apt, acute and inventive that the adjuncts, drill and training, which are requisite in some of the Old World communities, we not needed here. To sdopt this view as a tule of action would be a sad mistake. The American may not need the incentite of, school discipline, but he does require, and the near future will demonstrate that he must have the thorough knowledge and methods of systematic training. Even now our textile industries are suffering by reason of our lack in this respect. In mechanical expelients to cheapen produv ion no nation is so fertile as ours, but in the higher and more intellectual elements we are saily wanting. In the fit vention of contrivances of a merely mechanical character we distance the world, both in quantity and quality but when it comes to the ioliter and more acettetit designs, whose beauty and gragefulness unife in the formation of the contribution to the contribution of the contribution of

Two new preservative wrapping paper have been recently brought out, says the Progress of Science, one designed for fruit and one for furs, cloth, etc. The first is made by dipping a soft tissue paper in bath of salicytic acid and hanging it in the The bath should be made from a strong sichoholic solution of salicyli acid, diluted with as much water as it wil send, didded with as much water as it will bear without precipitation. The apples oranges or other fruits may be wrapped in the paper before packing, and when the fruit reaches its market the paper can be removed and used again. A manilla wrap ping paper may be prepared for resisting moths and mildew by dipping it in a pre-pared bath, squeezing it and drying it over noths and mindew by supplied by ingit over a rollers. The bath is made by mixing the distribution of the d seventy parts of oil removed by the di tilistion of coal tar naphths, five parts of crude carbolic acid containing at least 5 per cent of phenola, twenty parts of this coal tar at 160 degrees Fahr., and five part of refined petroleum.

A Colored Girl Turning White

One of the greatest curiosities belong ing to the human family, ever seen i tematic, scientific, artistic and technical education among our manufacturers, and these parts, perhape, was on our street last Saturday evening. It was in the per son of a little negro girl, aged about sever variety of fabrics, are now the main in-strumentalities needed to complete the success of the United States as a competi-tor with the great textile-producing nayears, who, about a year ago; commence to turn white. Her forehead, from the bair of her head to the bridge of her nose, extending around on either side of her neck. Is perfectly white, while both cheeks are almost a jet black. Her arms, feet, legs and hands are covered with black and white spots, the latter apparently the most numerous. She has a very heavy head of hair, which is almost as straight so that of a white person but is period, but few write about him who are straight as that of a white person, but i any more to deny the horrible truth. Alcommenced to turn gray at the same time the skin commenced turning white. She is perfectly healthy, as her parents, who were with her, informed us. Her mother is very black, but her father is between a copper color and a black. though as beautiful as a peri in other ways, inclemency of the weather, and our massive brow is glowly creeping over toward the back of our neck. Nature makes all CLEVELAND Leader: The nomination of things even. If a man be possessed of such ravishing beauty and such winning John W. Bookwalter, of Springfield, for Governor, is a clear case of brains beaten by a "bar". The Convention passed over John F. Tollett, a courteous and able law-yer; George W. Jeddee, a veteran Judge and politician; William N. Armatrong, an accomplished and successful journalist; and Theodore Gook, an ornament of Cin-cinnal society, to nominate a man with-out political experience or ability. Why was this preference shown? Why was Bookwalter chosen over the heads of bet-ter men? Simply because he had money, and was, willing to spend it in the cam-Governor, is a clear case of brains beaten When we have our hat on and go a chasse-ing down, the atreet with that came! glide of ours every one saks who that noble-look-ing Apollo with the deep and meiancholy eye is, but when we are at the office, with our bat hung up on the French walnut sideboard, and the sun comes softly in through the rosewood shutters and lights up the shellac polish on our intellectual dome, we are not so pretty.

Then it is that the fly, with gentle tread and seductive song, comes and prospects and seductive song, comes and prospects sround on our bump of self-esteem, and ter men? Simply because he had money, and was willing to spend it in the campaign. This argument in his hehalf was not used secrecity. It was urged by his supporters on the streets, and they even named the precise amount—$50,000—which they claimed that he had pledged. The Democratic Convention did not nominate Bookwaiter the man, but his barrel of money. In fact, the man without his money would never have got a majority in a Democratic Convention. When we get where forboarance ceases to be a virtne, we hall off and alap the plade where he was, while he goes over to the inkastand and snickers at us. After he has waded wround in the carmine ink awhile he goes back to the bump of spirituality and makes some red marks over it.

Having laid off his claim under the new mining law, he proceeds to sink on it.

According to the reports received at the Agricultural Bureau at Washington the acreage of tobacco is largely in excess of last year, particularly in Maryland, Vir net year, particularly in Maryland, Virginia and Kentucky, but in view of the large decrease in 1880 in these States owing to the scarcity of plants, the area will not be greater this year than it was in 1879, the year in which the area was given for the cenius of 1880. The condition of the crop is renorted higher than ble.

If the fly were large and weighed 200 pounds and came in here and told us if we didn't take back what we had said abut him he would knock out the window with our temains and let us fall 100 feet into the busy street, it wouldn't worry us so much, because then we could strangle him with one hand, while we wrote a column editorial on Conking with the other. We do that frequently. But a little fragile insect, with no home and no parents, and only four or five million brothers and eigers, gains our confidence and than tickles.
